AUCTIONS UPDATE

Entries still being accepted

Our sale program is currently postponed following the COVID-19 outbreak and subsequent Government advice. In the current set of guidelines, we are therefore unable to hold public viewings and sale days as we normally would. This affects both our General and Antiques Sales at Stanhope Hall and Outdoor Dispersal Sales.

We have a store full of entries for both Catalogued and General Sales and our vendors are showing complete understanding. We are also working with a number of executors on house clearances in readiness for a return to normal working practice.

We are in a position to continue to accept entries for Antiques & Collectables Sales and General Household Furniture & Effects Sales. Items can be stored in preparation for these recommencing as soon as possible.

Options to host sales virtually are currently being explored. Please refer to our website (www.robert-bell.org/auctions) for updated information regarding this.

The auction department is working remotely from home and can be contacted on the usual office numbers and email addresses (including those listed below) for online valuation and general auction advice. We shall, of course, update customers on our sale schedule by auction newsletter and posting on our Auction Homepage.

The Sale Summary produced for the Modern & Vintage Farm Machinery Dispersal Sale originally scheduled for April 4th is still available online. We plan to hold this sale as soon as possible.
