JT FRISKNEY'S

The firm was started at Baumber by John Thomas Friskney in 1909, who repaired motors and cycles. Within a couple of years he had relocated to West Street, Horncastle and in 1917 became a tractor dealer for the new tractors of Henry Ford.

Although J.T.Friskney died in 1947, Eric Young had started working for him and he got the opportunity to buy shares in the company during the 1950's. The Ford dealership was very successful under Eric and his wife Gwen's leadership, and the business expanded rapidly in such an agricultural area.

At its height, the business - with premises also at Boston and a contracting business based at Stickney - employed over 50 people.

Sadly, Gwen died in 2018 and with Eric over 90, the decision has been made to cease trading and the premises at Horncastle will be made available in smaller lots to rent.

Consequently, this is a full and genuine dispersal sale- a one off opportunity.
